

Cameron Barnett is a Pittsburgh poet, teacher, and the Emerging Black Writer in Residence at Chatham University. He's the author of The Drowning Boy's Guide to Water and Murmur, forthcoming from Autumn House Press. His work explores the complexity of race, place, and relationships for Black people in America.